

Ali Duvall, left, and Taylor Wampler, with Jonah Rock.

• • •

Two local teenagers raised $500 to help disabled children on their birthdays. Ali Duvall and Taylor Wampler celebrated their entrance into their teens with a beach party held at Old Port Beach near Port San Luis.

Instead of the usual wrapped presents, they asked their friends for cash donations to Jack's Helping Hand, a locally funded non-profit group that helps children with special needs with purchases of medical equipment or services that aren't covered by private insurance or government programs.